

FREE seminar for injured workers:

Understanding workers' compensation and injury management

Have you recently been injured at work?

Are you uncertain about workers' compensation, injury management and returning to work?

Why not take advantage of the FREE independent information seminars to help you through these processes?

On behalf of WorkCover WA, IFAP delivers regular information seminars free of charge to injured workers. The seminars run for just over two hours and are proven to help injured workers of all backgrounds wanting to understand their rights and responsibilities in the following key areas:

- workers' compensation in Western Australia (including WorkCover WA processes);
- the claims process;
- entitlements;
- claims obligations and the rights of parties;
- dispute resolution;
- impairment assessment;
- settlements;
- injury management and returning to work;
- sourcing assistance.

Taking the time to attend a short session will save you time later on and help you through what can be a very challenging period in your life. Your queries and discussions are confidential and do not impact on your claims process.
